

Q: May I require Vista driver for Laser card reader combo (All in one Combo card reader with 3 Port USB Hub)?

A: The Laser Card reader Combo does not require any drivers to be installed when used under the Vista Operating system. Operating systems later than Windows 2000 have native drivers for devices such as these that should load as soon as the reader is connected to the USB port.

Please ensure that your computer has the latest drivers installed for the motherboard chipset. These drivers should be available from the manufacturer's website.

If possible, please test the reader on another computer to confirm that the device is working correctly. If the device will work on other computers, updating the above mentioned drivers should resolve the problem.
